

Act 201: Responsible Utility Customer Protection Act

The Responsible Utility Customer Protection Act, Chapter 14 of the Public Utility Code, protects responsible bill-paying customers from rate increases attributable to other customers’ delinquencies in payment. The Act provides public utilities with collection mechanisms and procedures that promote timelier collections, while protecting vulnerable customers by ensuring that utility service remains available to all customers on reasonable terms and conditions. The law is applicable to electric distribution, water distribution, natural gas distribution, steam heat and wastewater utilities.

CONSUMER RESPONSIBILITY:

Your utility company CAN shut off your service if you fail to:

- Pay your bill.
- Pay your payment arrangements.
- Make a required deposit.
- Allow the utility company to access its equipment.

UTILITY COMPANY RESPONSIBILITY:

Before your utility service is disconnected the utility company will:

- Send you a 10-Day Notice.
- Allow up to 60 Days before termination of service.
- Attempt contact with you three days prior to disconnection of service date.
- Leave a 48-hour notice at your residence.

Winter Moratorium protects consumers from utility termination between December 1 and March 31. It should be noted that:

- During this time, the utility company will restore your service within 24 hours after you pay your bill and meet the utility company’s conditions.
- When termination occurs during the rest of the year, your service will be restored within 3-7 days if you pay your bill and meet the utility company’s conditions.

Your utility service CAN be terminated during the winter months without PUC approval if:

- You fail to be a responsible utility customer.
- Your income fails to be within the utility company’s income qualifying guidelines.
- The utility company will give you the opportunity to make payment arrangements to avoid termination.

To obtain new service or reconnect service - or if you break a payment arrangement - the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (PUC) may establish payment arrangements utilizing the amounts based on income-qualifying guidelines.

If you break payment arrangements established with the PUC, the PUC cannot help you unless your income significantly changes and/or special circumstances include:

- Onset of chronic illness that results in significant loss of income.
- Catastrophic damage or loss to your residence that resulted in significant cost to customer.
- Increased number of household dependents.

Your utility company may also require proof of income.

You may be required to pay a deposit if:

- You have bad credit history or no payment credit history.
- Service was terminated for unpaid bills.
- You missed paying your bill 2 consecutive payments or 3 payments over a 12-month period.
- The amount of the deposit may vary and could be an average of 2 monthly bills.

By law consumers can only establish one payment arrangement with the PUC. The utility company has the ability to offer more than one payment arrangement.

If you have broken two or more prior arrangements the utility company may require you to pay the full balance owed on the bill. You may not be required to pay a deposit if you are income qualifying for a Customer Assistance Program (CAP).

Medical Certification:

Utility service will not be disconnected if you or anyone in your household is certified as seriously ill by a licensed health care provider.

Your utility company will require a letter from a licensed physician, physician's assistant or nurse practitioner stating that disconnection of utility service will harm the person that is ill residing in the home. The initial certification can last up to 30 days with additional renewals possible.

It is important to know that you are responsible to pay your bill even when there is a medical certificate on file for the person in the household.

Your utility company will assist you and explain Customer Assistance Programs you may qualify for if:

- Your outstanding balance includes charges owed from participation in the CAP. The law does not allow the PUC to establish a payment arrangement on your behalf.
- You are eligible for CAP the payment may be the lowest payment amount a utility can set.

Third Party Notification provides additional protections against utility termination, including the following circumstances if you:

- Are away from the home for a long period of time.
- Do not understand the utility guidelines.
- Designate a third party to receive copies of late payment and or termination notices, which can be a neighbor, a close friend or family member.

The Third Party IS NOT responsible for the utility bill or payment. Contact your utility company for more information.

It Is Important That You Contact Your Utility FIRST:

- If you want to file a complaint and/or attempt to make payment arrangements. If there is no resolution, you have the right to decline the payment arrangements and file a complaint with the PUC.
- If you have a loss of income or loss of hours at work, please contact the utility company to see if you qualify for customer assistance programs offered.
- If you have a Protection from Abuse (PFA) court order, please contact your utility company for special protection information.
